DEADLINES Remember, posted orders are okay on deadline day itself, but for online and fax orders you must submit orders BEFORE the deadline (that's rule 1.7 in Dark Age). That's because if you could submit orders on deadline day I wouldn't be able to run the game until the following day - the turnaround would be a whole day slower just so that a few people could submit orders later than everyone else (in fact I'd just set the deadline a day earlier, so you wouldn't gain anything at all).

The normal procedure is I collect the posted orders, and then the online orders, around mid-day, which means you've usually got an extra twelve hours or so (twenty-something hours in Australia) when late orders have a good chance of sneaking through (I don't exclude orders for being late: I simply run with what I've got). Don't expect anyone to be sympathetic if you miss a deadline. Consider what postal players have to put up with, posting their orders in good time, several days early, and then having them held up or delivered to somewhere completely different. Games are not re-run to include late orders.

CHRISTMAS HOURS The office will close at the end of Thursday 22nd December. Turns due that day will run on time, ish, and might reach you by Christmas Eve. I'll then be closed until Thursday 4th January 2006, so the games are effectively missing one week (the one beginning Monday 26th December). I'll be in and out of the office and checking emails in between times but not running any games. This year's Christmas task is updating the websites for Dark Age and Play On.

WEBSITES The sidetracks.co.uk website has waiting lists, progress reports, rules updates, downloads and information about using the email system. Our main "static" info & stuff is at pbmsports.co.uk, while the softsim.co.uk website has credit cards and online turnsheets. Anyone can see the first two, but for softsim you need to ask for a user name before you can get into it.

RULES, WEBSITE & MESSAGES There's an up to date version of the rulebook available online (at www.sidetracks.co.uk) and I've also moved the older feedback and waffle parts of this message file to the website as well. If you need these and can't use the online version then let me know and I'll send a printed version (if you're a paying customer - freemailers are expected to use the online stuff) but you can probably refer to old game reports anyway.

FREEMAILERS Freemailers are the obvious way to introduce someone new to play-by-email. If you know someone who might be interested then it's got to be easier to get them interested when it's free. Especially if you're available to help them along.

FAULT REPORTS If you see something wrong please tell me about it promptly. Otherwise the game moves on: either the data changes or the software changes, and it becomes impossible to investigate. I need to be able to see the reports you're looking at (mis-reading game reports generates the most fault reports, mis-written reports are next, and actual faults come in third).
